NEWS

“The building is thought of as a complex ecosystem that makes it possible for students to direct their own education through a process of self-driven collective experimentation ...”

Read about the Reggio School, the latest project by Dean Andrés Jaque's firm Office for Political Innovation in Arquitectura Viva.

“It looks as if the whole thing has been assembled from a lean kit of parts – and could be dismantled and re-used just as easily. At every possible moment, doors spill out on to terraces that overlook the park, making the building feel like a pavilion in a garden.”

Read a review of the new Houston Endowment HQ designed by Faculty Wonne Ickx's firm PRODUCTORA and kdA in The Guardian.

“Construction waste has long been a bane of ecologically minded architects. So a trio of designers zeroed in on what they felt was a particularly egregious example: the architectural mock-up.”

Read about Testbeds, a project led by Faculty and Architecture PhD Student Samuel Stewart-Halevy together with Ivi Diamantopoulou and Jaffer Kolb (New Affiliates) in The New York Times.

“Architects—and especially the ‘starchitects’ who designed much of this World Cup and so many other projects across the Gulf—should use their position, privilege and power to speak up. They have a voice, but if they stay silent, abuse and exploitation will continue unchecked.”
