

Tang Museum announces free public tours

Friday, June 29, 2018

Times Union Staff Photo By Paul Buckowski A view of the outside of the Tang Teaching Museum and Art Gallery at Skidmore College, in Saratoga Springs, NY, on Monday October 23, 2000.

The Tang Teaching Museum at Skidmore College has announced a series of free, public, curator-led and behind-the-scenes tours at on Tuesdays from July 10 through Aug. 28.

The full schedule is below. Tours start at 12 p.m. in the museum's atrium.

July 10: Curator's Tour of "Dona Nelson: Stand Alone Paintings," with museum director Ian Berry.

July 17: Behind-the-Scenes tour with curator Rachel Seligman.

July 24: Curator's tour of "Give a damn," with curator Rebecca McNamara.

July 31: Curator's Tour of "Dona Nelson: Stand Alone Paintings," with curatorial assistant Molly Channon.

Aug. 7: Behind-the-scenes tour with Tang guide E.B. Sciales.

Aug. 14: Curator's tour of "They're, Their, There," with intern Rachel Rosenfeld '18.

Aug. 21: Behind-the-scenes tour with Rachel Seligman, curator and assistant director for curatorial affairs.

Aug. 28: Curator's tour of "Give a damn.," with McNamara.

In addition, public tours will be offered on Frances Day, the museum's annual community open house, scheduled for Saturday, July 14:

2 p.m. : Behind-the-scenes collections tour with registrars Elizabeth Karp and Jessica Lubniewski.

3 p.m.: Curator's tour of "Give a damn." with McNamara.

4 p.m.: Gallery tour of "Dona Nelson: Stand Alone Paintings" with Berry.

For more information, call 518-580-8080 or visit tang.skidmore.edu.