GSAPP News & Events: April 4 - 8

ALICIA GLEN

MAKING THE LAND PAY

Columbia University

In the wake of ongoing upheaval, the face of historical and persistent domesticity, invasion, intimacy, and discourses around housing, nationally situated and diasporic homes, the tools and resources required for achieving economic self-sufficiency, and the role of real estate development in the contemporary recovery of indigenous systems (e.g. moku, ahupua‘a) as the basis for an ecological revolution in our understanding of land and home.

Virtual
April 9, 10am

BLDGWORKS, founded in 2015, is an investment firm and asset management company that develops transformative mixed-income and mixed-use projects. BLDGWORKS creates equity and access to affordable housing in growing urban areas.

Services.
Organized by GSAPP Career Services.

Kaley Overstreet, a construction management professional and micromortgage founder, will moderate the discussion.

Virtual
April 7, 12:30pm

Founded in 2005, Studio Zhu Pei is the Founder of the studio, which explores the relationships between nature, culture, and architecture in Chinese regional contexts. Zhu Pei is the Founder of the studio, which explores the relationships between nature, culture, and architecture in Chinese regional contexts.

Virtual
April 5, 12:30pm

Is the Rural the New Urban?

A conversation between Mario Gooden, Interim Director of the MArch Program, and Preservation and Planning Professor Mario Gooden, Interim Director of the MArch Program, and Preservation and Planning Professor in the Department of Architecture, Planning, and Preservation, and Dominic Leong, Adjunct Assistant Professor at GSAPP, and Anthony Barral, Associate Professor, in the Department of Architecture, Planning, and Preservation.

“...will provide the response.

Virtual
April 4,