The collective generosity shown on Columbia Giving Day—a 24-hour online fundraising event—is central to GSAPP's effort to welcome and support students from all backgrounds.

Since the start of her tenure, Dean Amale Andraos has prioritized the expansion of resources for financial aid. With the help of alumni and friends, the School has been able to make significant progress in our commitment to financially support our students with steady year-after-year increases in financial aid. Every dollar donated as part of Giving Day will go towards tuition relief, and donors may choose which scholarship funds to support.
