With the climbing of the "open neighborhood", Hudson yards gathered massive public resources. However, it simply created a gated neighborhood on top of massive infrastructure. Here we redefined the publicity, from political participation, democracy, to public health, culture.

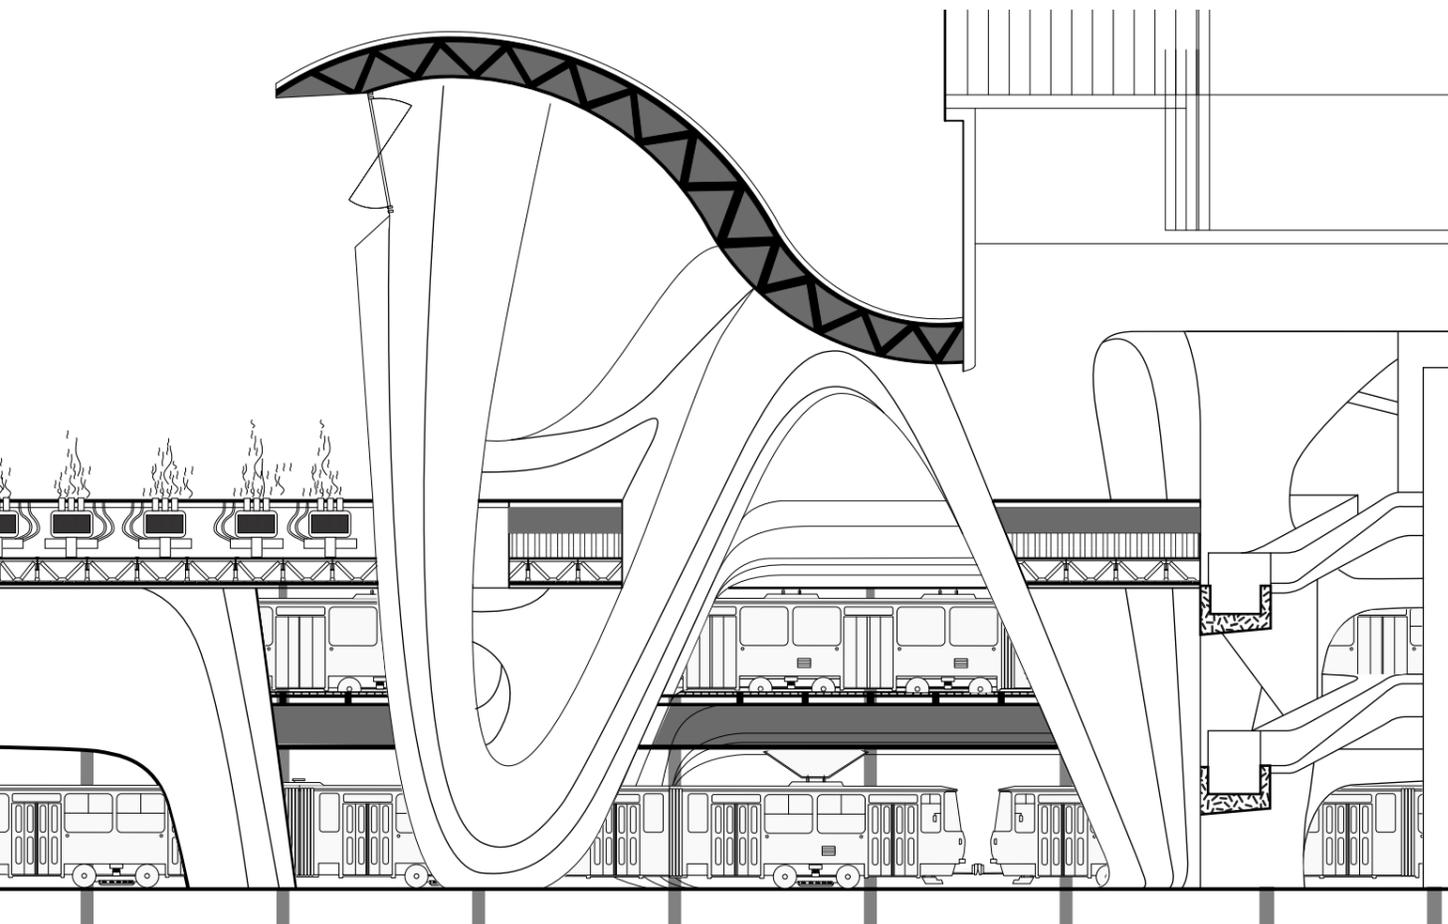

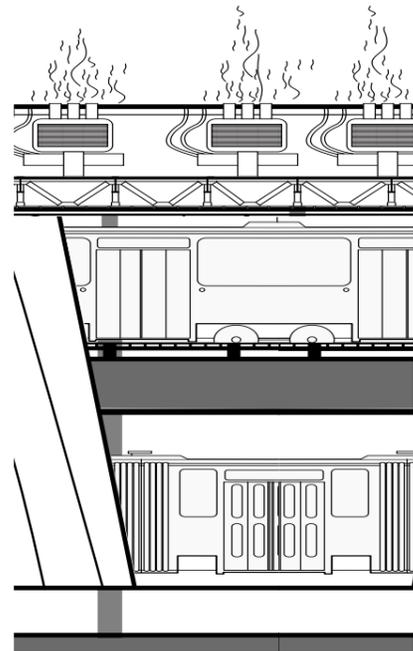

With the claiming of the "architecture museum", Hudson yards invited the most famous architects in the world and wove the black fairy tale together. Nonstop suicide and the collapse of the real economy due to pandemics make this place of sick repute. The unexpected economic crisis hit this area's development. The real estate faced an unstable capital chain, tax delinquencies, which in the end will become a livelihood problem.
