Norma Merrick Sklarek Scholars Fund

Copy and paste the HTML below into your email client of choice.

union regular' style="font-family:
 Socket and Utopia: What's Next in Architecture?

Financial support to students engaged in summer workshops will be offered by the Norma Merrick Sklarek Scholars Fund.

Karenna Gore, Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP and the Frances Kéré, Adjunct Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP and Bika Sibila Rebek, Adjunct Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP, will announce the next phase of their collaborative project, "New Research in Black Women and Architecture," on February 4.

In 2005 he founded his architectural practice, formerly known as Kéré Architecture. Since founded, it has received numerous awards and commissions. In 2019, he was named one of TIME magazine’s 100 Most Influential People and he is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The event will focus on the power of Decolonizing Design Research: Collective Voice and Scale towards partnership and repair.

A discussion of how this disparity persists, and request an appointment with yourself on the job market, adopting interview best practices.

Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP and the Bika Sibila Rebek, Adjunct Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP, will announce the next phase of their collaborative project, "New Research in Black Women and Architecture," on February 4.

In 2005 he founded his architectural practice, formerly known as Kéré Architecture. Since founded, it has received numerous awards and commissions. In 2019, he was named one of TIME magazine’s 100 Most Influential People and he is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The event will focus on the power of Decolonizing Design Research: Collective Voice and Scale towards partnership and repair.

A discussion of how this disparity persists, and request an appointment with yourself on the job market, adopting interview best practices.

Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP and the Bika Sibila Rebek, Adjunct Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP, will announce the next phase of their collaborative project, "New Research in Black Women and Architecture," on February 4.

In 2005 he founded his architectural practice, formerly known as Kéré Architecture. Since founded, it has received numerous awards and commissions. In 2019, he was named one of TIME magazine’s 100 Most Influential People and he is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The event will focus on the power of Decolonizing Design Research: Collective Voice and Scale towards partnership and repair.

A discussion of how this disparity persists, and request an appointment with yourself on the job market, adopting interview best practices.

Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP and the Bika Sibila Rebek, Adjunct Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP, will announce the next phase of their collaborative project, "New Research in Black Women and Architecture," on February 4.

In 2005 he founded his architectural practice, formerly known as Kéré Architecture. Since founded, it has received numerous awards and commissions. In 2019, he was named one of TIME magazine’s 100 Most Influential People and he is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The event will focus on the power of Decolonizing Design Research: Collective Voice and Scale towards partnership and repair.

A discussion of how this disparity persists, and request an appointment with yourself on the job market, adopting interview best practices.

Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP and the Bika Sibila Rebek, Adjunct Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP, will announce the next phase of their collaborative project, "New Research in Black Women and Architecture," on February 4.

In 2005 he founded his architectural practice, formerly known as Kéré Architecture. Since founded, it has received numerous awards and commissions. In 2019, he was named one of TIME magazine’s 100 Most Influential People and he is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The event will focus on the power of Decolonizing Design Research: Collective Voice and Scale towards partnership and repair.

A discussion of how this disparity persists, and request an appointment with yourself on the job market, adopting interview best practices.

Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP and the Bika Sibila Rebek, Adjunct Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP, will announce the next phase of their collaborative project, "New Research in Black Women and Architecture," on February 4.

In 2005 he founded his architectural practice, formerly known as Kéré Architecture. Since founded, it has received numerous awards and commissions. In 2019, he was named one of TIME magazine’s 100 Most Influential People and he is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The event will focus on the power of Decolonizing Design Research: Collective Voice and Scale towards partnership and repair.

A discussion of how this disparity persists, and request an appointment with yourself on the job market, adopting interview best practices.

Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP and the Bika Sibila Rebek, Adjunct Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP, will announce the next phase of their collaborative project, "New Research in Black Women and Architecture," on February 4.

In 2005 he founded his architectural practice, formerly known as Kéré Architecture. Since founded, it has received numerous awards and commissions. In 2019, he was named one of TIME magazine’s 100 Most Influential People and he is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The event will focus on the power of Decolonizing Design Research: Collective Voice and Scale towards partnership and repair.

A discussion of how this disparity persists, and request an appointment with yourself on the job market, adopting interview best practices.

Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP and the Bika Sibila Rebek, Adjunct Assistant Professor at Columbia GSAPP, will announce the next phase of their collaborative project, "New Research in Black Women and Architecture," on February 4.

In 2005 he founded his architectural practice, formerly known as Kéré Architecture. Since founded, it has received numerous awards and commissions. In 2019, he was named one of TIME magazine’s 100 Most Influential People and he is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The event will focus on the power of Decolonizing Design Research: Collective Voice and Scale towards partnership and repair.

A discussion of how this disparity persists, and request an appointment with yourself on the job market, adopting interview best practices.