Trevor McShane and Rock Legend Mitch Ryder to Attend Los Angeles Premiere for Nostalgic New Music Video “Let’s Have a Party”

Los Angeles, California—Collaborating with rock and roll icon Mitch Ryder, singer-songwriter Trevor McShane is set to captivate audiences with the release of his latest music video for the upbeat track "Let's Have a Party." Known for his unique blend of folk, rock, and Americana, McShane has been garnering notoriety for his fresh, throwback sound in the Southern California area.

The music video, filmed at a lively outdoor tailgating party of young fans, pays homage to soft rock, country, and Americana, and showcases the close friendship between McShane and Ryder. With its high production quality and nostalgic appeal—especially at a time when country music dominates the charts—the video promises to reach a broad audience and resonate with fans across genres.

This collaboration comes at a perfect time, as Mitch Ryder recently released his new album, With Love, which climbed to #3 on the Billboard Blues Album Chart. The partnership also marks an exciting period for McShane, who is gearing up to release new music produced by hitmaker Adrian Gurvitz, who has multiple hits on the Billboard Top 100.

An exclusive premiere of the music video will be held at a private Calabasas residence on April 19, 2025. And on theme, it is going to be a party! Guests can expect a vintage popcorn machine, retro candy and sodas, and more. Both iconic artists will be in attendance and will participate in a Q&A session after the screening. We'd love to have you join us! Reach out for more details and your invitation.
