Tuesday Talks

Today at 6:30PM ET, 'PLAYGROUND: ARFEACTOS' facilitated by ANJALI SINGHI. Featuring professor and media leader Joely Proudfoot, this talk is a performance journey through the human body with a series of participatory workshops and discussions. It will address issues of power, community inclusion in the design process, and the speculative play that highlights a history of Being Silica.

Next Tuesday's talk will be 'PARA INTERACTUAR,' hosted by Multicultural A. The talk will feature students, faculty, and staff contributions to a discussion titled 'Playground: Artefactos,' which draws on the speculative to highlight a history of Being Silica.

M.Arch (The Beck Group), '04 MSRED (Oxford University), and New York News: AGENCY, 'EMERITUS PROFESSOR GRANT SUMMERS hosts a panel discussion to celebrate 31 years of his career at Columbia GSAPP. The event will be from 1172 Amsterdam Avenue (212) 854-3414. Register here.

The A&E System publication is available on the Buell Center's website. The issue focuses on the progress of The Brownsville Plan. Ebo Almonte, Assistant Professor at Barnard College, will present her latest book 'Power: Infrastructure in America.' The event will be in honor of Indigenous Peoples. Brandi Thompson, Associate Professor at the Faculty of Environment, Climate, and Cultural Heritage: Indigenous Peoples, will introduce the book. RSVP required.

The NOMA, J. Max Bond Center of CUNY, and AIANY Partnership Inc.; and additional organizations host a panel discussion to celebrate the launch of Mabel O. Wilson's work. Wilson is the director of the Center for Black Diaspora, a professor at Columbia GSAPP, and the 2020 MLA Emerging Scholar. The event will be held at The Building Museum with a discussion and celebration of M.AAAD Program Director and Associate Professor Mario Gooden, and a conversation by Trevor Lamphier, Chair of Architecture at Columbia GSAPP from 1980 to 1984. Register here.

Looking ahead, the University Senate and the University College of the Americas. It also marks the second anniversary of the University Senate's recognition of the importance of América Latina in the world's politics and climate change and the power of education. The event will be organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program. Organized by the M.S.UP program.