NO NEW THEORIES

by Kameelah Janan Rasheed

An experimental artists' book of xerox abstractions, found photography, and poetic text fragments to explore processes of learning and unlearning.

About the Publication

No New Theories is a new artists' book by artist, educator and writer Kameelah Janan Rasheed. Building on Rasheed's accretive and associative installation work, the project freely assembles the artist's own writing, autocorrect algorithms, and Oulipian poems (short texts generated with the help of imposed constraints) alongside visuals drawn from her personal image archive, pop culture, zoological journals, quranic verses, and more. The work gathers these threads with an emphasis on the processes of revision and improvisation as she considers the entropic potential of meaning in place of fixed definitions.

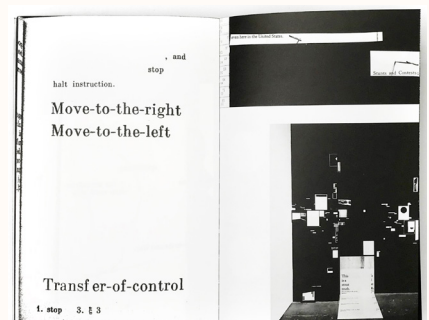

At the heart of No New Theories is an interview between Rasheed and Jessica Lynne, co-founder of the art criticism journal ARTS.BLACK, that attempts to document their intellectual partnership through a layering process by which the original exchange is reworked and expanded with annotations, citations, and excerpted texts. Rasheed and Lynne take on questions of epistemology and pedagogy, knowledge-acquisition, as well as patience and fatigue. To build on the notion of the 'organic archive'—both as a fictional organizing framework and as a score for possible experiences—the two consider various historical, sociological, and cultural facets of Americana, proposing a multi-directional discourse around the wide permutations of Black experience. The book's title locates Blackness as a multivalent and porous experience that can't be neatly theorized.

ART-RITE

ART-RITE

edited by Joshua Cohn, Edit DeAk,
Walter Robinson

A facsimile edition of the trailblazing periodical Art-Rite, collecting the full run of all twenty issues of the underground arts magazine in a single 678-page volume, co-published with Primary Information.

About the Publication

This facsimile edition collects the full run of the iconic arts periodical Art-Rite, co-published with Primary Information. Edited and published by Joshua Cohn, Edit DeAk, and Walter Robinson between 1973 and 1978 (Cohn would leave after Issue 7), Art-Rite moved easily through the expansive community of post-conceptual, post-minimalist, performance, and video artists that made up New York's vibrant downtown arts scene. With a sharp editorial vision, fanzine ethos, and proto-punk aesthetic, the magazine presented up-close coverage of the art world that was at once critical, humorous, and deeply knowledgeable, avoiding the formal tone and self-seriousness that characterized other art publications of the time.

Over its five year run, Art-Rite would publish hundreds of interviews, exhibition and performance reviews, statements, and projects "by, with, and about" a generation of artists who felt accessible in these pages, even as many of them were, or would soon become, the defining voices of the era. Featured artists include: Vito Acconci, Kathy Acker, Bas Jan Ader, Laurie Anderson, John Baldessari, Gregory Battcock, Lynda Benglis, Mel Bochner, Marcel Broodthaers, Trisha Brown, Chris Burden, Scott Burton, Ulises Carrión, Judy Chicago, Lucinda Childs, Christo, Diego Cortez, Hanne Darboven, and more.

FOUR BASIC KINDS OF LINES & COLOUR

by Sol LeWitt

A facsimile edition of the iconic LeWitt publication that investigates the possibilities of elemental graphic combinations and the effects of sequence, color, and geometric form, co-published with Primary Information.

About the Publication

This facsimile edition of Sol LeWitt's iconic Four Basic Kinds of Lines & Colour is co-published with Primary Information. Originally released in 1977, the publication stands as an enduring example of LeWitt's rigorous process-driven practice which utilizes simple conceptual parameters to generate complex and formally-diverse visual works.

Four Basic Kinds of Lines & Colour is a composite of two earlier publications—Four Basic Kinds of Straight Lines (1969) and Four Basic Colours and Their Combinations (1971). Each left-hand page offers a black and white study of four types of lines (vertical, horizontal, right-facing diagonal, left-facing diagonal) executed in all possible combinations, while right-hand pages present a combinatory system of lines in four colors (yellow, black, red, blue). The book opens with a two-page 'key' overviewing all permutations that follow.

NOTES ON FUNDAMENTAL JOY;

SEEKING THE ELIMINATION OF OPPRESSION THROUGH THE SOCIAL AND POLITICAL TRANSFORMATION OF THE PATRIARCHY THAT OTHERWISE THREATENS TO BURY US

by Carmen Winant

An experimental work that sits at the cross section of an artists' project and historical document, drawing from archival images borne out of photography workshops held across Womyn's Land communities of the early 1980s.

About the Publication

In Notes on Fundamental Joy artist Carmen Winant looks to the photographic work that came out of a series of workshops known as the Ovulars, held in feminist and lesbian separatist communities of the Pacific Northwest. Through the lens of pervasive image-making—women holding cameras, women taking pictures of women—the project considers the radical potential of social and political optimism predicated on the absence of men.

The photographs are accompanied by a self-reflexive running essay from Winant that contends with her affection for these images and considers their collective power in picturing intimacy and pleasure, and their meaning outside of the subculture that produced them. The book includes a personal essay by writer and artist Ariel Goldberg realized in two parts, understanding the photographs through a broader gender lexicon and in the context of trans-exclusionism.

Notes on Fundamental Joy is printed on a lightweight semi-transparent paper allowing for the show-through of images.

CLOUD SERVICE

by Batia Suter

A visual study of clouds and cloud-like forms exploring the associative potential of the printed image, co-published with Roma Publications.

About the Publication

Cloud Service is a recent publishing project from Swiss-born Amsterdam-based artist Batia Suter. The appropriated images that make up the project are a monographic index of clouds and cloud-suggestive forms, vast and microscopic in scale. Sweeping aerial shots, volcanic plumes and skylscapes are interwoven with coral, cauliflowers, and bighorn sheep. Placed in the right sequence, these images resonate in new and complex ways, manipulate each other, and—with a sort of synaptic leap—take on new depths of meaning.

As with Suter's previous projects—Parallel Encyclopedia, Radial Grammar, Surface Series, among others—Cloud Service is principally interested in the visual dialog that emerges with the simple act of placing images in new relation to one another. Drawing from her vast personal library of natural history reference books, encyclopedias, and other flea market finds, Suter assembles an enthralling mix of 'non-art' images which she adapts and reorients in intuitive and often profound ways.

AND YET MY MASK IS POWERFUL

by Basel Abbas & Ruanne Abou-Rahme

A visual project of found and original imagery exploring the intersections of performativity and ritual, body and artifact, thingness and virtuality.

About the Publication

AndYet My Mask is Powerful is a publication by Palestinian artist-duo Basel Abbas and Ruanne Abou-Rahme. The work is an encompassing visual poem that develops the artists' ongoing project of the same name, exploring the intersections of performativity and ritual, body and artifact, thingness and virtuality.

Comprised of several narrative threads, AndYet My Mask is Powerful is a reflection on violence and crisis as it filters down through history, mythology, and into the complexities of our present moment. The book takes Adrienne Rich's poem Diving Into the Wreck (1973) as its starting point and allegorical framework, with portions of the text running through the book in English and Arabic side-by-side.

The project is built up through the layering of original and found imagery, providing both a formal and conceptual structure for thinking about people and place within a living fabric that has been compromised. Archival photos, stills of video/media files, and performance documentation are shuffled and overlapped until unscripted connections start to emerge.

NAME, THING, THING: A PRIMER IN PARALLEL TYPOGRAPHIES

by Gerardo Madera

An ambitious project using text, found images and citations to explore typographic intervention and the decolonization of design and typography.

About the Publication

Name, Thing, Thing is a compilation of thoughts, quotations, and fragments on and around typographic intervention as an act of resistance to the colonial embeds of typographic tradition—a pursuit analogous to long-used strategies of survival by people of color to subvert and reclaim defined historical narratives. Cultural remapping, hybrid form-making, and discursive histories are tactics explained in Name, Thing, Thing to locate potential channels of articulation in typography's decolonization.

Part One (Letters Are Things) is a performative text drawing from numerous theoretical sources across design criticism and cultural thought. Progressing through numbered and lettered sections, the essay attempts to cobble together what a methodology that actively combats typography's inherent homogenization of language and form might look like. Part Two (Things) borrows images from various books, artifacts, and artworks to locate an expressive language, often incorporating physical gesture—posture, gesticulation, facial expression—in the space around language, symbol and relic. Part Three (Things Cited) attributes the images and text.

PRINTER PROSTHETIC: FUTURA

by Federico Pérez Villoro &
Christopher Hamamoto

An experimental reprint of the seminal Futura pamphlet series by way of a custom 3D-printed prosthetic.

About the Publication

Printer Prosthetic: Futura is conceived as an “experimental reprint” of artist, publisher, and printer Hansjörg Mayer’s seminal Futura (1965–1968), a series of twenty-six artworks published as folded, single-page pamphlets. Using this collection of Concrete and Fluxus works as a starting point, Printer Prosthetic: Futura reinterprets the poems by means of mechanical mediation, outputting the originals through a set of controlled and chance operations.

Working with an industrial designer, the artists produced a custom 3D-printed “prosthetic” device to manipulate the encoder strip of a desktop printer. As the individual poems of the Futura pamphlets ran through a HP DeskJet 1112, the artists interfered with the rhythm of the printhead by adjusting the track on which it moves. The resulting work is a set of new, altered text pieces that are conceptually distinct from the original while still bearing a formal similarity.

The book's first section is comprised of an instructional manual for both recreating the prosthetic and modding a desktop printer. An essay by Roxana Fabius offers a history of Mayer’s series, positioned in relationship to this new project. The second section presents the outcomes of the reprinting process.

A MISTAKE IS A BEAUTIFUL THING

by Devin Troy Strother & Yuri Ogita

The first hardcover publication from LA-based Coloured Publishing, presenting an offhanded and humorous glimpse into their daily lives as artists and publishers.

About the Publication

The loosely organized collection of images—taken both by and of Coloured Publishing's Devin Troy Strother and Yuri Ogita—offers an offhand perspective into the duo's daily life as artists and publishers.

Accompanied by short and often humorous captions, the photographs (sometimes overlapping) are comprised of glimpses into studio life (collages-in-progress, unhung paintings, spilled paint) as well as other encountered objects (book covers, plants, and many dime bags). The work moves indiscriminately through its recurring motifs to build on a dialog that is irreverent but assured, examining art and its references, cultural phenomena, and the experience of being a person of color in the US.

A Mistake Is A Beautiful Thing is published by Printed Matter in collaboration with LA-based Coloured Publishing. The new hardcover work is the latest from designer Yuri Ogita and artist Devin Troy Strother, and follows a companion installation by Coloured Publishing at Printed Matter in 2018.

AN ARRANGED AFFAIR

Sally Alatalo

An Arranged Affair was published on the occasion of Chicago-based artist Sally Alatalo's exhibition Sally Alatalo: Narrative in Revision at Printed Matter in 2017. Using standard format paperback novels as source material, An Arranged Affair is the latest installment of Alatalo's Pulp series, initiated through her own imprint, Sara Ranchose Publishing. The series operates within the conventions of mass-market publishing, reusing the tropes of genre fiction to lay out, among other things, a critique of various social and political constructions.

NOTES FROM THE HISTORY OF ED-

Anne Callahan

Notes from the History of Ed- provides an historico-exemplary account of EDITING and/or THE EDITOR as a profession, activity and term. What happened (is happening) to the editor? (that sensitive visionary literary-journalistic figure of the last century). And, come to think of it, where did the editor come from?
