NO NEW THEORIES
STUTTERS
by Dominique Hurth
with text contributions by Ruth Noack and Kari Conte

A new publication tracing a photographic lineage within the Smithsonian Institution’s archives through a reworked collection of cyanotypes.

About the Publication

In 2014, artist Dominique Hurth encountered four boxes of cyanotype prints by Thomas W. Smillie, the first custodian and curator of the Smithsonian Institution’s collection of photography (active 1868 to 1917). In her new work Stutters, Hurth builds on several years’ research to rework the original cyanotypes into visual montage, sequencing images that provide a record of Museum life as it documents a ‘national’ collection in the making. Through a meticulous process of xerox and printing reproduction, the work presents photographs of empty display cabinets and staged objects within the Smithsonian’s holdings, following divergent threads of photographic history, exhibitionship and collection-making, as well as technological developments across the late 19th and early 20th century.

Two overlapping sets of captions from the artist offer a subjective and scientific view of the photographs, inviting a cross-referencing of the “official,” if incomplete, bibliographic record. Stutters includes a text by Hurth considering the book’s entwined interests, as well as her personal history with the Smithsonian collection and Smillie’s work. Additional contributions by authors and curators Ruth Noack and Kari Conte consider the ways in which artists’ projects can quietly break apart the violent taxonomy of an archive, and instead use this shifting fragmentation to bring into focus voices that have been excluded from history.

A JOE BRAINARD SHOW IN A BOOK

by Joe Brainard; edited by M/M (Paris) with Ron Padgett and Éric Troncy (Contributors)

From LOEWE, a sumptuous 200-page hardbound volume devoted to the graphic works and artists’ publications of artist and writer Joe Brainard.

About the Publication

Printed Matter is collaborating with LOEWE to offer A Joe Brainard Show in a Book for exclusive distribution, now available to bookstores. The recently published volume is devoted to the graphic works and artists’ publications of artist and writer Joe Brainard (1942–1994). Prefaced by Brainard’s close friend and poet Ron Padgett, and accompanied by an essay from art critic Éric Troncy, the publication reproduces at real scale rarely seen zines, comics, printed matter, ephemera and artworks created by Brainard during the 1960s and 70s.

Edited and designed by M/M (Paris), A Joe Brainard Show in a Book is housed in a giant fold-out cloth dust jacket reproducing Brainard’s Untitled (Bow), a colorful collage from 1967, and is released in a limited edition of 500 commercially available copies. Sales of the book will benefit the nonprofits Printed Matter and Visual AIDS, an organization which utilizes art to fight HIV/AIDS by provoking dialogue, supporting artists living with HIV, and preserving a legacy, because AIDS is not over.

DEPRECIATING ASSETS

by Jessica Vaughn
with Magdalyn Asimakis (Contributor)

An artists’ book investigating labor, diversity politics, and the material environment of the American workplace.

About the Publication

Depreciating Assets, a new artists’ book by Jessica Vaughn, considers the ways in which affirmative action and office equity measures intersect with corporate infrastructure and physical office space, proposing that minimalist design gestures of the modern office cannot exist outside the conditions of race, class and labor. Across four interwoven sections and related appendices, Vaughn assembles her photographs and critical writings alongside xeroxed images, diversity training video stills, and manipulated open source documents of the US Government. The project distills the symptoms of late 20th and 21st century work culture produced by open office plans and modular architecture’s promise of malleability, compliance, and universality—provisions that bid for increased efficiency and productivity at the expense of visibility for Black workers and workers of color.

Using a familiar copyshop color palette on standardized paper stock, Depreciating Assets replicates the style, materials, and colors outlined by the US Government Publishing Office—standards set to ensure design efficiency and the economical production of internal documents. The publication concludes with an afterword by the author contextualizing the project’s themes within the contemporary reality of global pandemic, economic precarity, and protests against racist state violence.

NO NEW THEORIES

by Kameelah Janan Rasheed

An experimental artists’ book of xerox abstractions, found photography, and poetic text fragments to explore processes of learning and unlearning.

About the Publication

No New Theories is a new artists’ book by Kameelah Janan Rasheed. Building on Rasheed’s associative installation work, the project freely assembles the artist’s own writing, autocorrect algorithms, and Oulipian poems (short texts generated with the help of imposed constraints) alongside visuals drawn from her personal image archive, pop culture, zoological journals, quranic verses, and more. The work gathers these threads with an emphasis on the processes of revision and improvisation as she considers the potential of meaning in place of fixed definitions.

At the heart of No New Theories is an interview between Rasheed and Jessica Lynne, co-founder of the art criticism journal ARTS.BLACK, that attempts to document their intellectual partnership through a layering process by which the original exchange is reworked and expanded with annotations, citations, and excerpted texts. Rasheed and Lynne take on questions of epistemology and pedagogy, knowledge-acquisition, as well as patience and fatigue. To build on the notion of the ‘organic archive’—both as a fictional organizing framework and as a score for possible experiences—the two consider various historical, socio-logical, and cultural facets of Americana, proposing a multi-directional discourse around the wide permutations of Black experience. The book’s title locates Blackness as a multivalent and porous experience that can’t be neatly theorized.

About the Publication

This facsimile edition collects the full run of the iconic arts periodical Art-Rite, co-published with Primary Information. Edited and published by Joshua Cohn, Edit DeAk, and Walter Robinson between 1973 and 1978 (Cohn would leave after Issue 7), Art-Rite moved easily through the expansive community of post-conceptual, post-minimalist, performance, and video artists that made up New York’s vibrant downtown arts scene. With a sharp editorial vision, fanzine ethos, and proto-punk aesthetic, the magazine presented up-close coverage of the art world that was at once critical, humorous, and deeply knowledgeable, avoiding the formal tone and self-seriousness that characterized other art publications of the time.

Over its five year run, Art-Rite would publish hundreds of interviews, exhibition and performance reviews, statements, and projects “by, with, and about” a generation of artists who felt accessible in these pages, even as many of them were, or would soon become, the defining voices of the era. Featured artists include: Vito Acconci, Kathy Acker, Bas Jan Ader, Laurie Anderson, John Baldessari, Gregory Battcock, Lynda Benglis, Mel Bochner, Marcel Broodthaers, Trisha Brown, Chris Burden, Scott Burton, Ulises Carrión, Judy Chicago, Lucinda Childs, Christo, Diego Cortez, Hanne Darboven, and more.

FOUR BASIC KINDS OF LINES & COLOUR

by Sol LeWitt

A facsimile edition of the iconic LeWitt publication that investigates the possibilities of elemental graphic combinations and the effects of sequence, color, and geometric form, co-published with Primary Information.

About the Publication

This facsimile edition of Sol LeWitt’s iconic Four Basic Kinds of Lines & Colour is co-published with Primary Information. Originally released in 1977, the publication stands as an enduring example of LeWitt’s rigorous process-driven practice which utilizes simple conceptual parameters to generate complex and formally-diverse visual works.

Four Basic Kinds of Lines & Colour is a composite of two earlier publications—Four Basic Kinds of Straight Lines (1969) and Four Basic Colours and Their Combinations (1971). Each left-hand page offers a black and white study of four types of lines (vertical, horizontal, right-facing diagonal, left-facing diagonal) executed in all possible combinations, while right-hand pages present a combinatory system of lines in four colors (yellow, black, red, blue). The book opens with a two-page ‘key’ overviewsing all permutations that follow.

AND YET MY MASK IS POWERFUL

by Basel Abbas & Ruanne Abou-Rahme

A visual project of found and original imagery exploring the intersections of performativity and ritual, body and artifact, thingness and virtuality.

About the Publication

And Yet My Mask is Powerful is a publication by Palestinian artist-duo Basel Abbas and Ruanne Abou-Rahme. The work is an encompassing visual poem that develops the artists’ ongoing project of the same name, exploring the intersections of performativity and ritual, body and artifact, thingness and virtuality.

Comprised of several narrative threads, And Yet My Mask is Powerful is a reflection on violence and crisis as it filters down through history, mythology, and into the complexities of our present moment. The book takes Adrienne Rich’s poem Diving Into the Wreck (1973) as its starting point and allegorical framework, with portions of the text running through the book in English and Arabic side-by-side.

The project is built up through the layering of original and found imagery, providing both a formal and conceptual structure for thinking about people and place within a living fabric that has been compromised. Archival photos, stills of video/media files, and performance documentation are shuffled and overlapped until unscripted connections start to emerge.

About the Publication

Name, Thing, Thing is a compilation of thoughts, quotations, and fragments on and around typographic intervention as an act of resistance to the colonial embeds of typographic tradition—a pursuit analogous to long-used strategies of survival by people of color to subvert and reclaim defined historical narratives. Cultural remapping, hybrid form-making, and discursive histories are tactics explained in Name, Thing, Thing to locate potential channels of articulation in typography’s decolonization.

Part One (Letters Are Things) is a performative text drawing from numerous theoretical sources across design criticism and cultural thought. Progressing through numbered and lettered sections, the essay attempts to cobble together what a methodology that actively combats typography’s inherent homogenization of language and form might look like. Part Two (Things) borrows images from various books, artifacts, and artworks to locate an expressive language, often incorporating physical gesture—posture, gesticulation, facial expression—in the space around language, symbol and relic. Part Three (Things Cited) attributes the images and text.

A MISTAKE IS A BEAUTIFUL THING

by Devin Troy Strother & Yuri Ogita

The first hardcover publication from LA-based Coloured Publishing, presenting an offhanded and humorous glimpse into their daily lives as artists and publishers.

About the Publication

The loosely organized collection of images—taken both by and of Coloured Publishing’s Devin Troy Strother and Yuri Ogita—offers an offhand perspective into the duo’s daily life as artists and publishers.

Accompanied by short and often humorous captions, the photographs (sometimes overlapping) are comprised of glimpses into studio life (collages-in-progress, unhung paintings, spilled paint) as well as other encountered objects (book covers, plants, and many dime bags). The work moves indiscriminately through its recurring motifs to build on a dialog that is irreverent but assured, examining art and its references, cultural phenomena, and the experience of being a person of color in the US.

About the Publication

Printer Prosthetic: Futura is conceived as an “experimental reprint” of artist, publisher, and printer Hansjörg Mayer’s seminal Futura (1965–1968), a series of twenty-six artworks published as folded, single-page pamphlets. Using this collection of Concrete and Fluxus works as a starting point, Printer Prosthetic: Futura reinterprets the poems by means of mechanical mediation, outputting the originals through a set of controlled and chance operations.

Working with an industrial designer, the artists produced a custom 3D-printed “prosthetic” device to manipulate the encoder strip of a desktop printer. As the individual poems of the Futura pamphlets ran through a HP DeskJet 1112, the artists interfered with the rhythm of the printhead by adjusting the track on which it moves. The resulting work is a set of new, altered text pieces that are conceptually distinct from the original while still bearing a formal similarity.

The book’s first section is comprised of an instructional manual for both recreating the prosthetic and modding a desktop printer. An essay by Roxana Fabius offers a history of Mayer’s series, positioned in relationship to this new project. The second section presents the outcomes of the reprinting process.

AN ARRANGED AFFAIR
Sally Alatalo

An Arranged Affair was published on the occasion of Chicago-based artist Sally Alatalo’s exhibition Sally Alatalo: Narrative in Revision at Printed Matter in 2017. Using standard format paperback novels as source material, An Arranged Affair is the latest installment of Alatalo’s Pulp series, initiated through her own imprint, Sara Ranchouse Publishing. The series operates within the conventions of mass-market publishing, reusing the tropes of genre fiction to lay out, among other things, a critique of various social and political constructions.

La: A Geography of Modern Art
Aleksandra Mir

Aleksandra Mir’s oversized booklet is a modern West Coast take on Harold Rosenberg’s “Tenth Street: A Geography of Modern Art” published in Art News Annual by the Art Foundation Press in 1959. Mir’s version reads like an art school brochure, designed to give prospective students a glimpse into what “residential life” is like in the Southern Californian art scene. Photographs by Justin Beal document the bar scene, dinners, lectures, dance workshops, openings, and events, where art appears as background scenery to the mingling of an international group of artists and students.
