Do We Miss the Old-School Motherhood?

It has been almost a full generation of women that has experienced a new method of living. Without the need of baring children, plus do not need to be afriad of the preesure from parental leave, and no worries with menstruation, new women has fought a position that couldn't be achieved in the previous patriarchal system.

What about motherhood? Strangely, people doubted this so much when the FAHRS came out, but it seems that human beings in general loved their kids more, I mean, kids as a collective. Motherhood exsits in a new perspective, it is broader, a spectrum of love where individualality seems insignificant.

President ULBITQUES has signed a exclusive deal with China about Visas and trades. Both States saw a significant increase in GDP in the last few years.

LIVE

Man arrested due to trying to break into the FAHRS, claiming that "human have to right to bare children" Surrounding masses saying he "has lost his mind", "trying to break this almost impossible world of all human beings" and should be punished.

Senator Arue Discuss Tax Raise For Young-Generation funds in Meeting

During the ongoing senate meeting, Senator Arue raised the concern of future generations again. "Freedom of everyone is highly based on our current system, which all mature citizens should and have the responsibility to raise the next generation. The Current funding for the young adults to get in the society is not enough, and this is not healthy for our system." says Senator Arue. Currently every young adult gets around 10k USD as resettling fee for getting out of high School, or around 30k USD after higher education. "This is insufficient for young adult to settle in a new place."

Mature citizens however, have different opinions about this after they have leave the communal home. People are arguing that the government is taking to much tax that it is impacting their daily life. On twatter the topic #notaxraise has been on top for days.

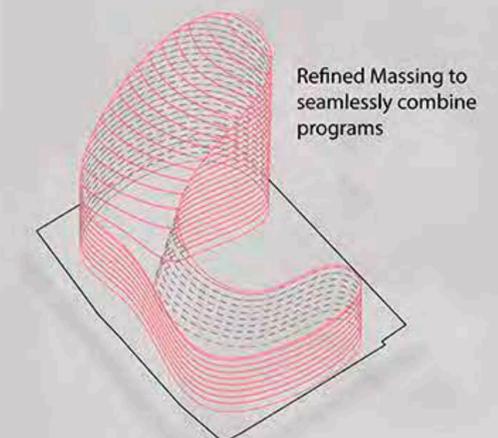

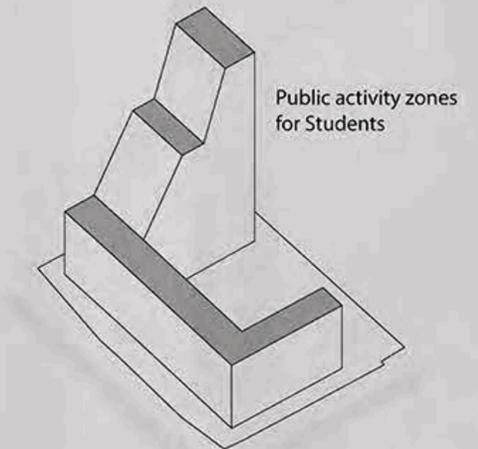

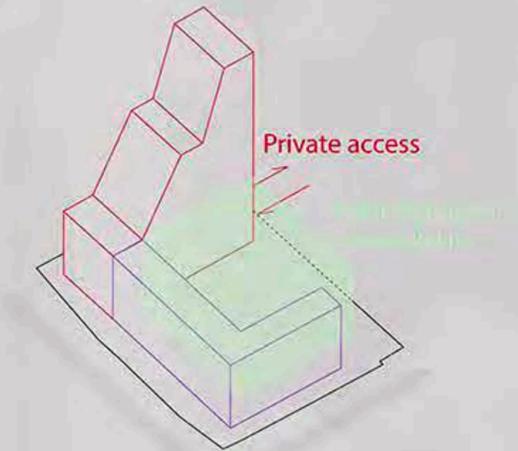

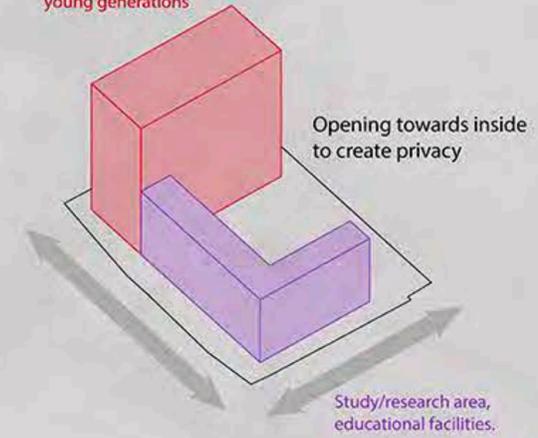

Young generations are collectively raised together by government and tax money.

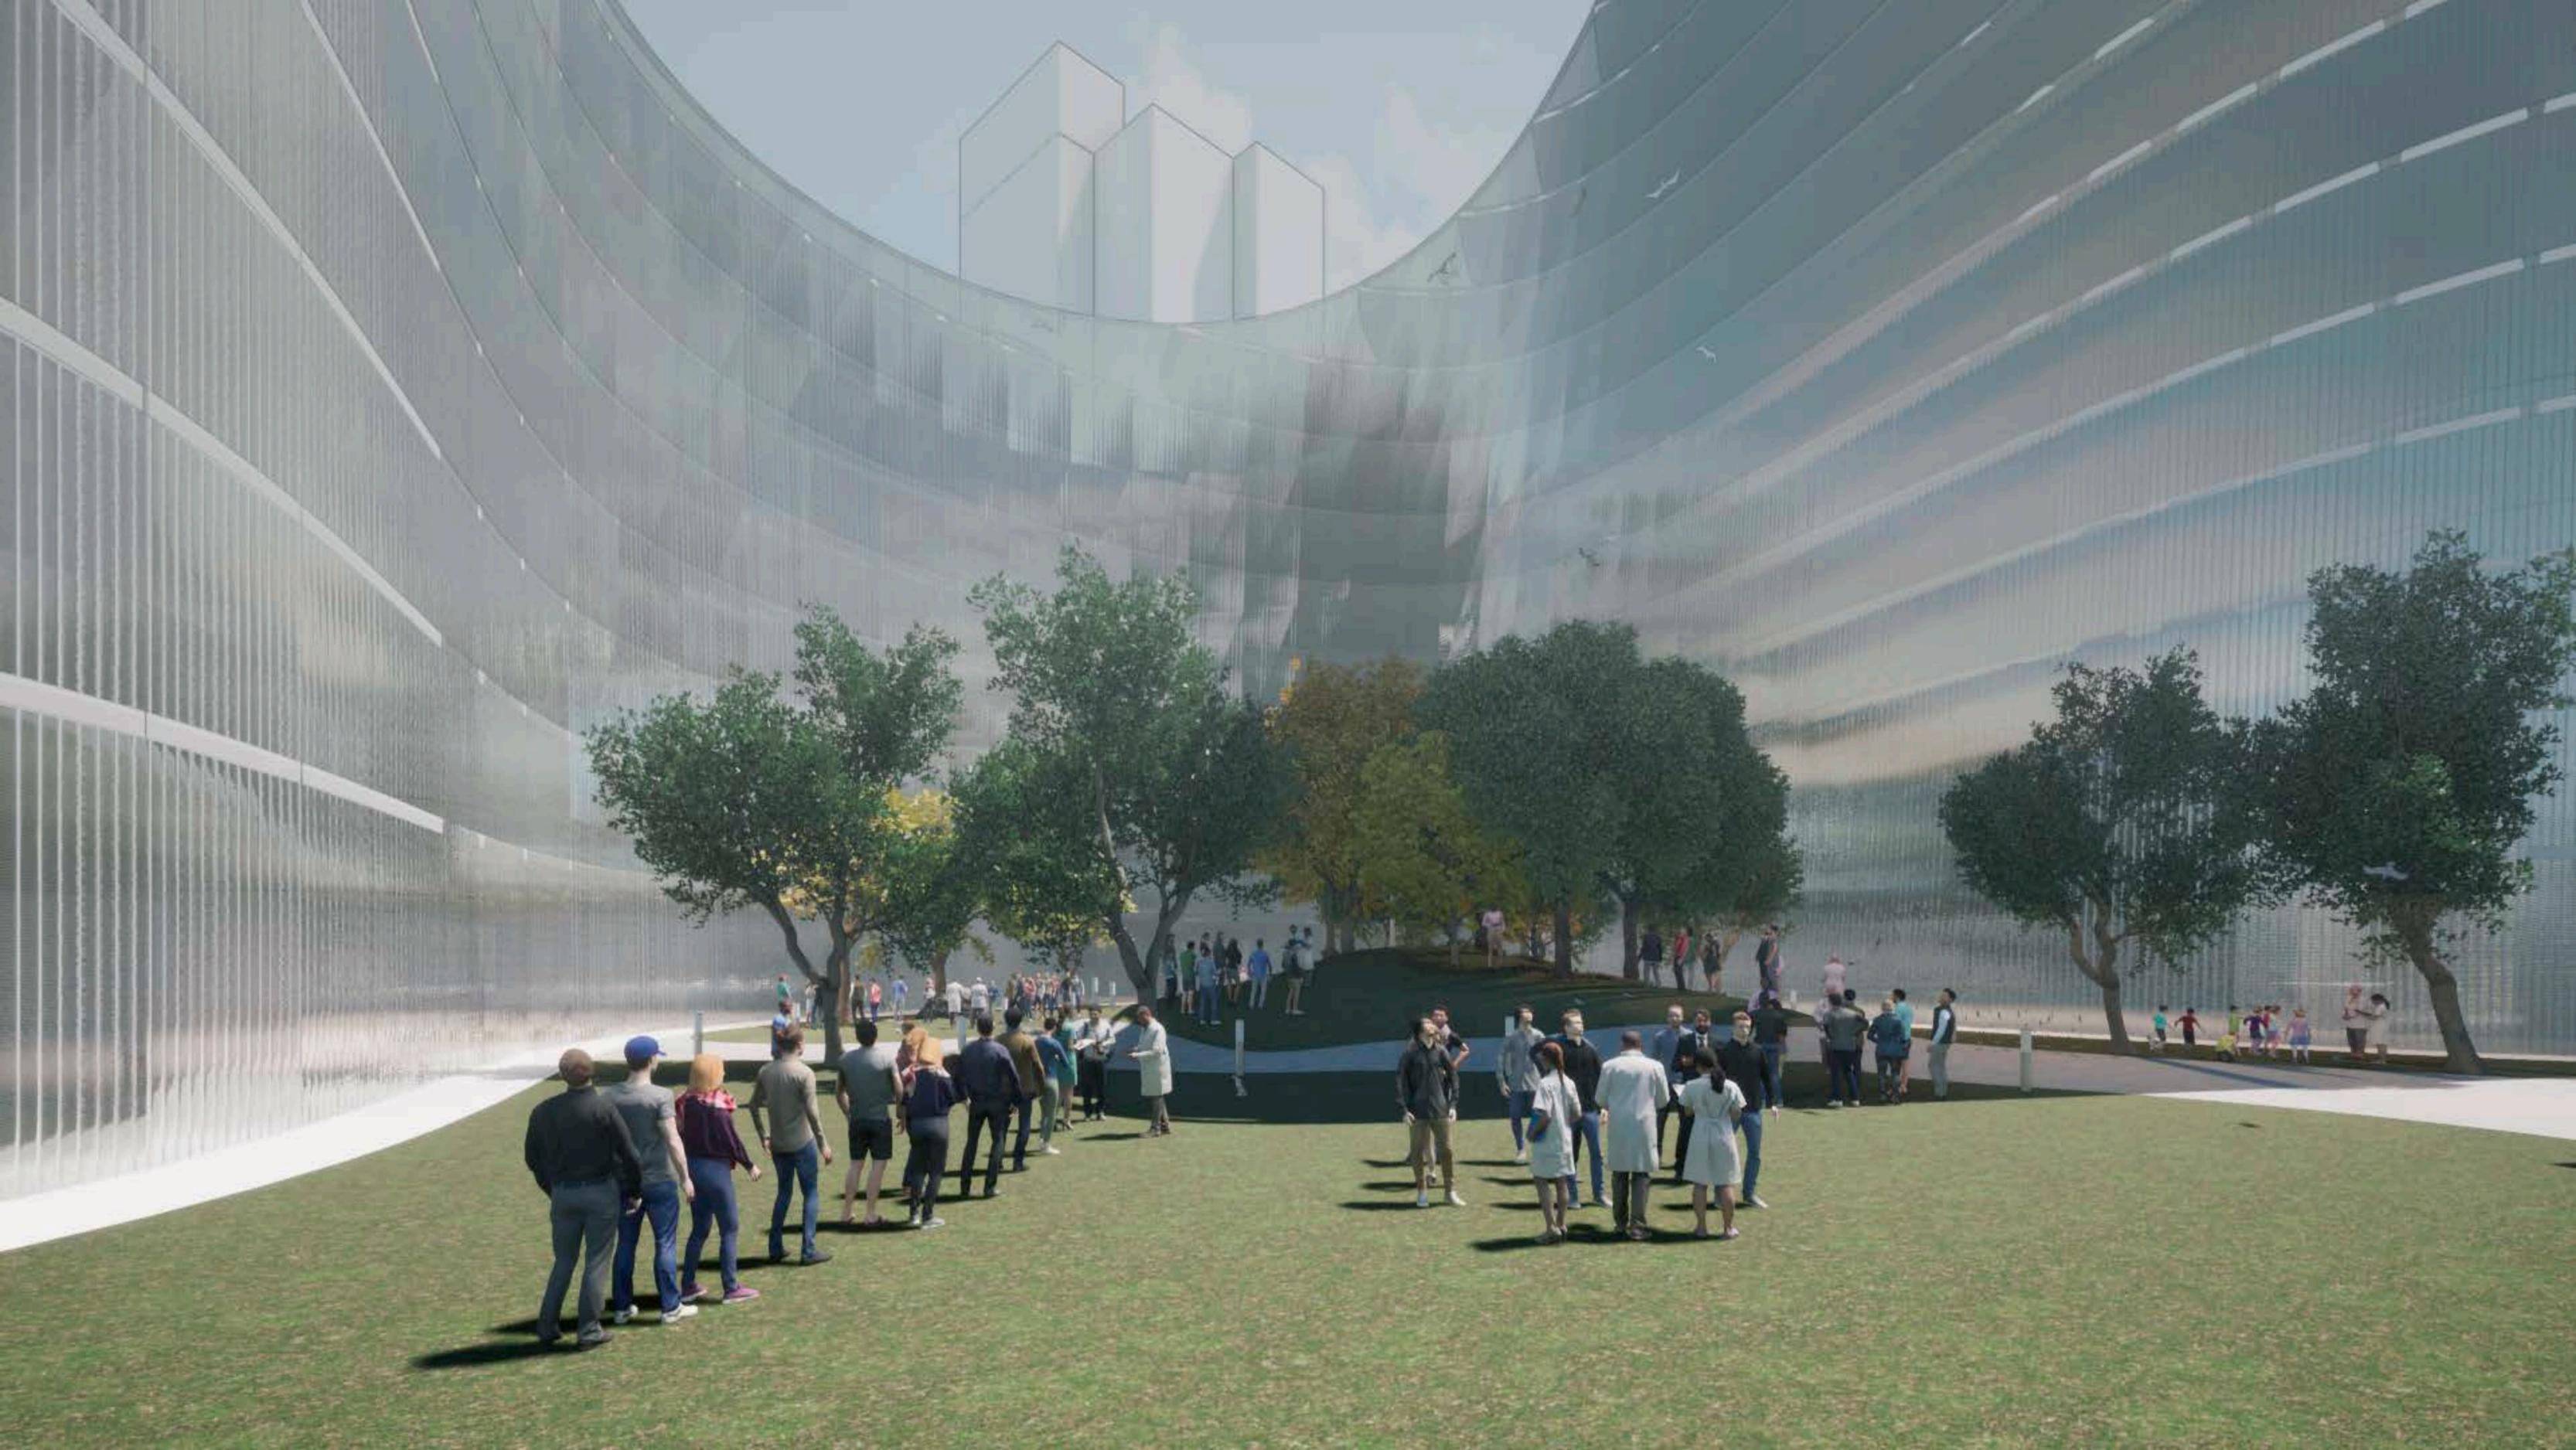

Without the concept of families, young people could live and study together and form their own communities. With them getting mature, they would be transferred to another school collectively.

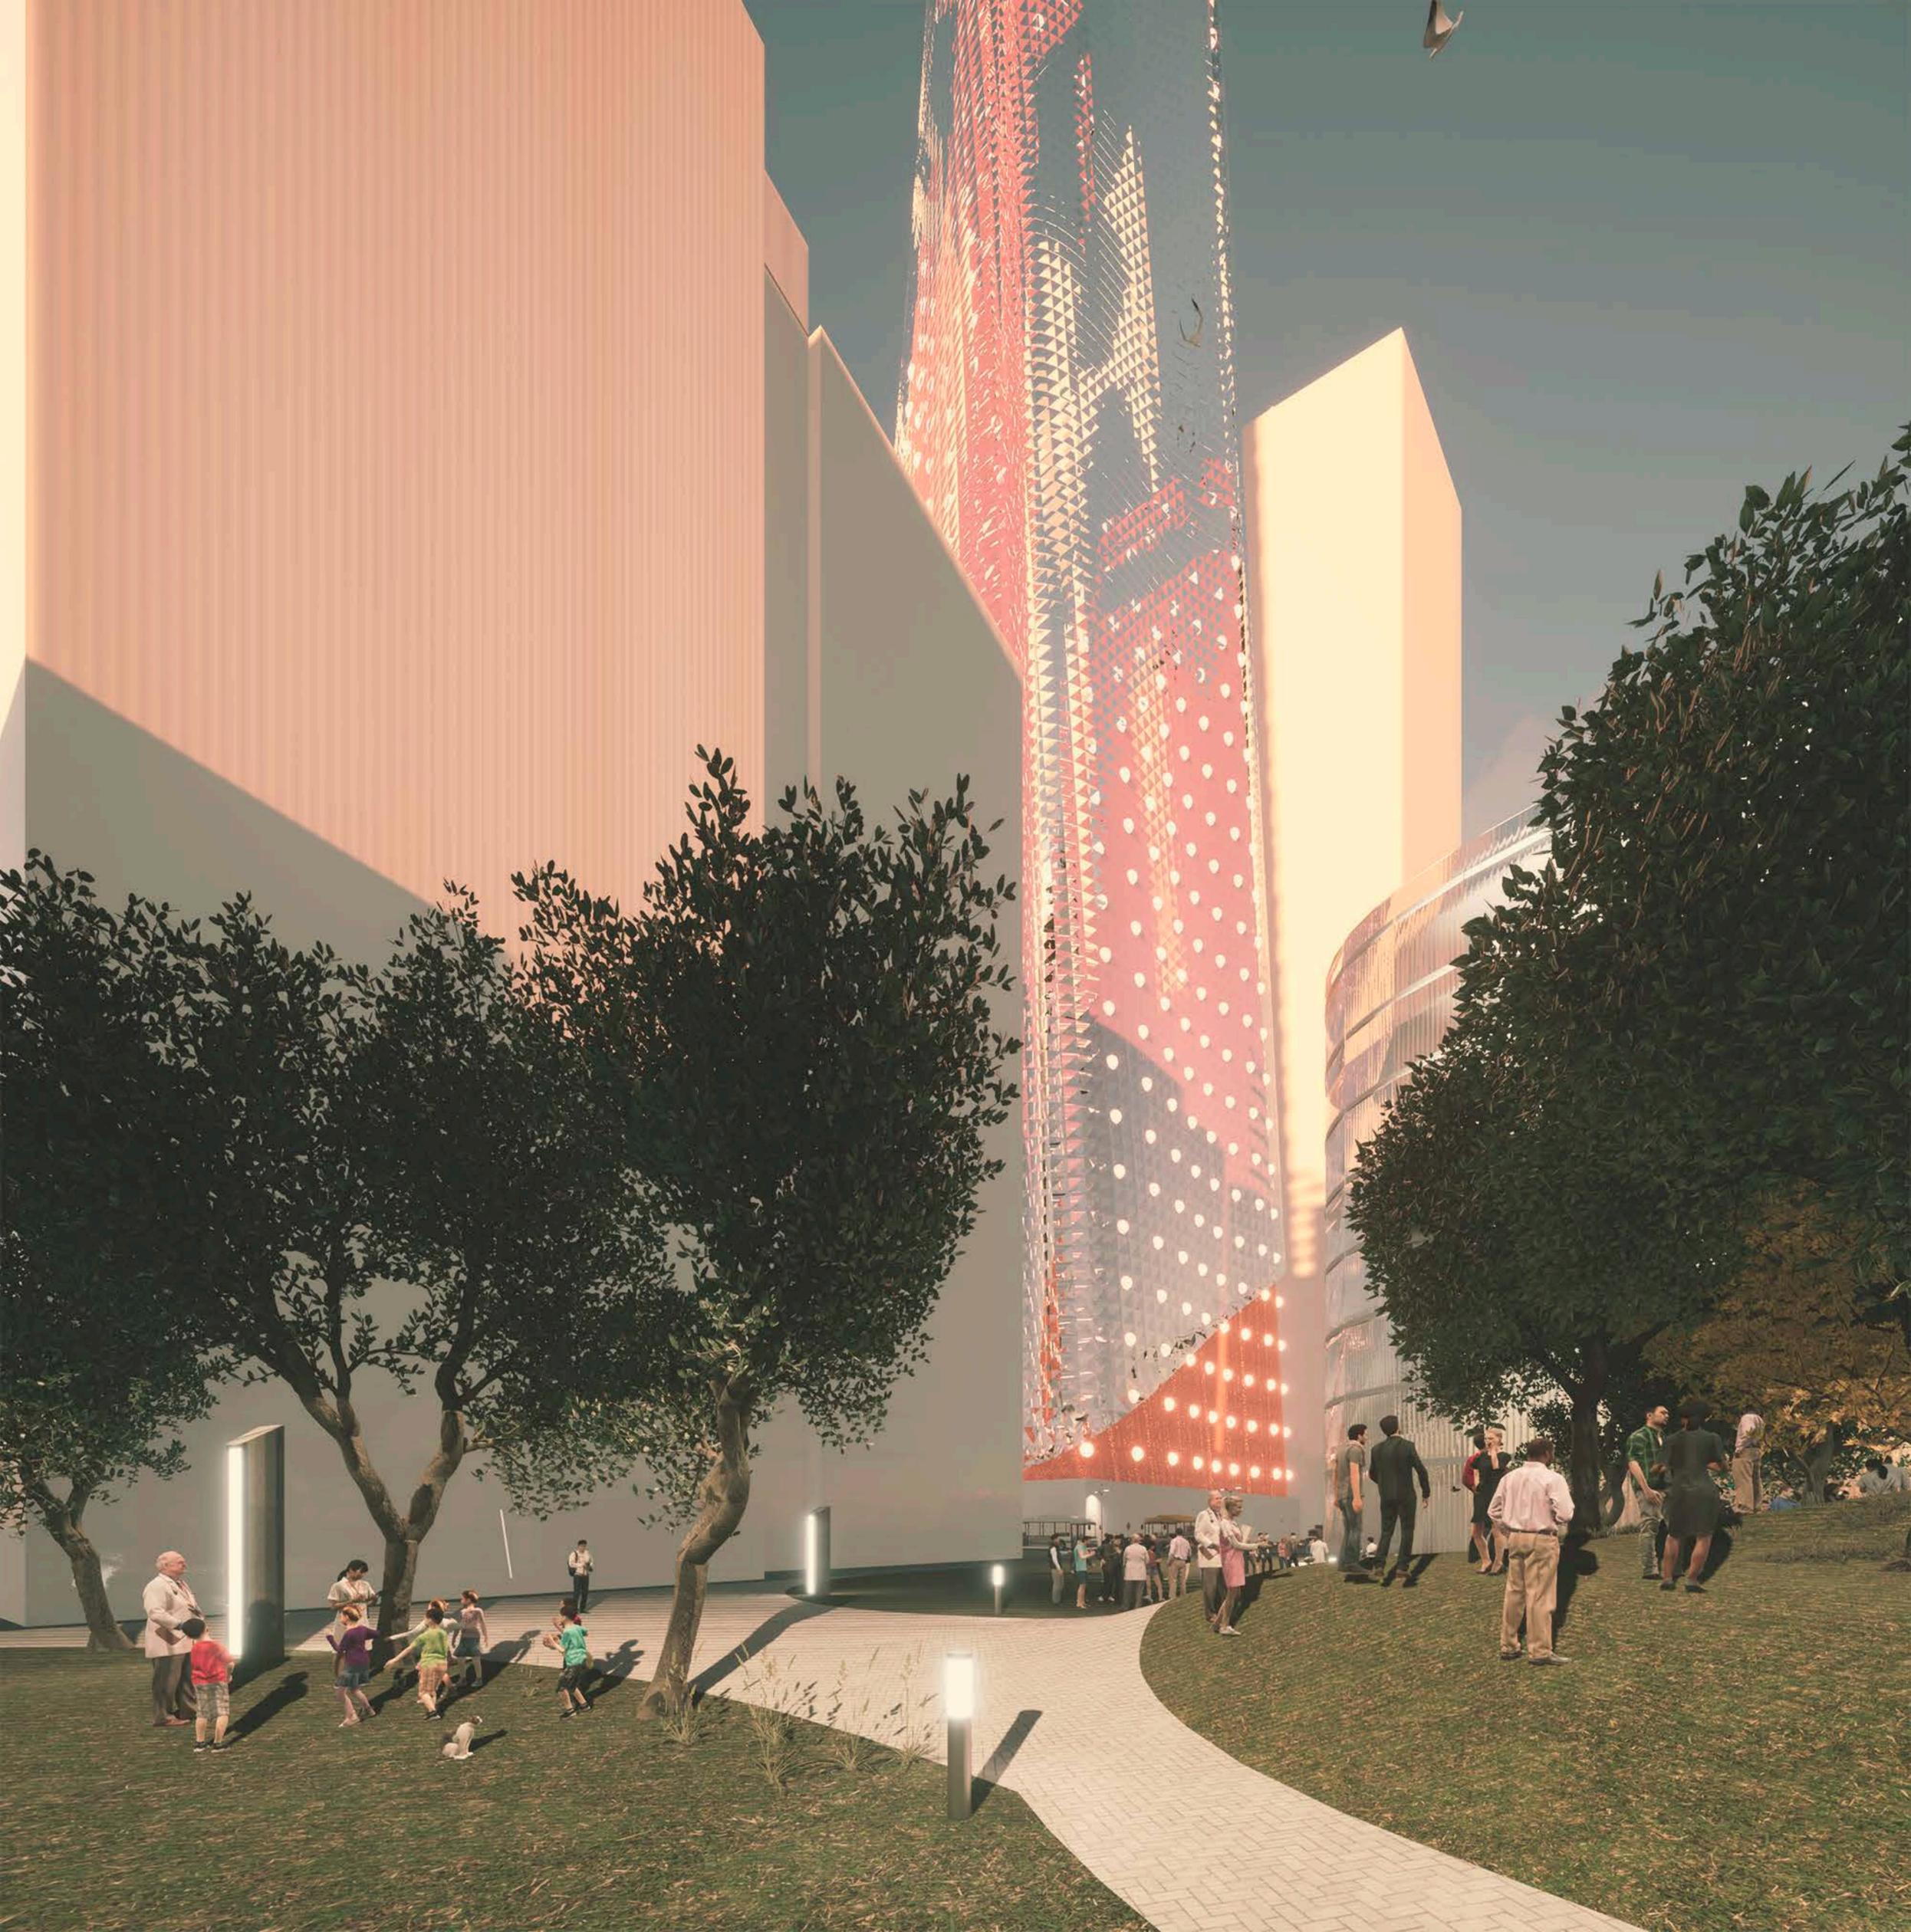

Getting the balance between "public" and "private" life is essential in these new complexes. Similar but different to dormitories, school is integrated into the building and become a part of it as a facility.

Being raised collectively doesn't mean young generations will lose individuality. For example, High school students and up have lifted curfew time which means they can fully experience the society after class. Most things remain the same other than the collective home of young people.

Residential area, serve as a centralized home of young generations

Movie Pods Region

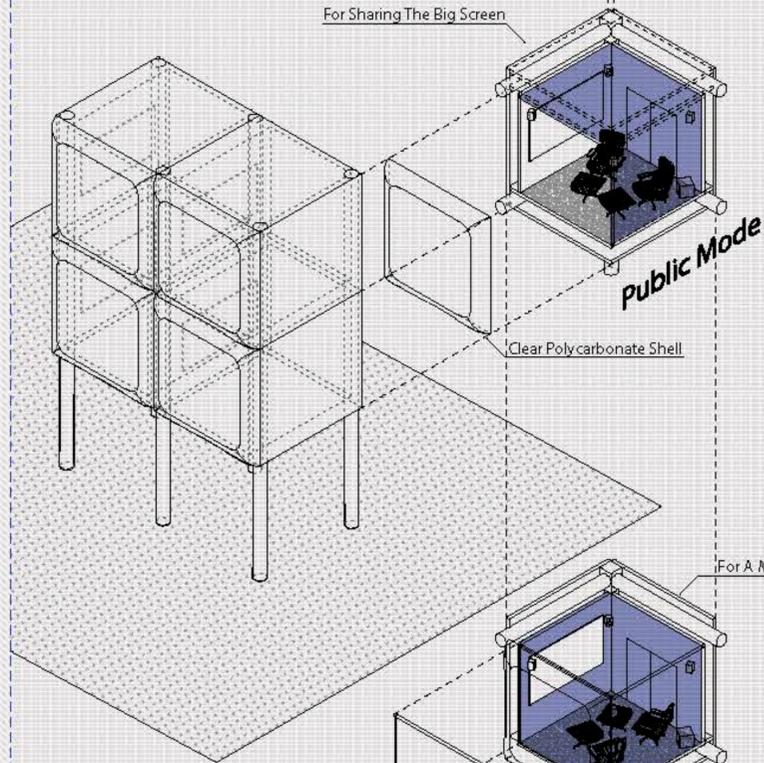

Reinforced Cardboard Tube Structure
100% Recyclable

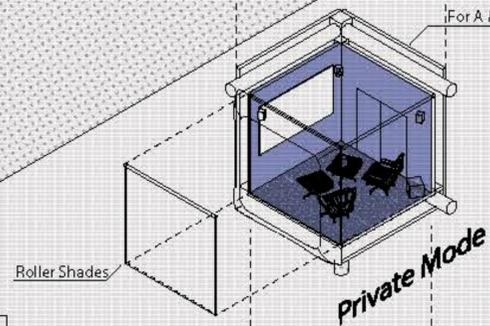

For Sharing The Big Screen

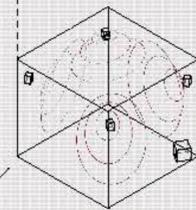

Both the movie pods and the ribbon are designed to utilize recycled materials such as cardboard tube structures and ocean plastic fabrics as screens.

For A More Private Viewing

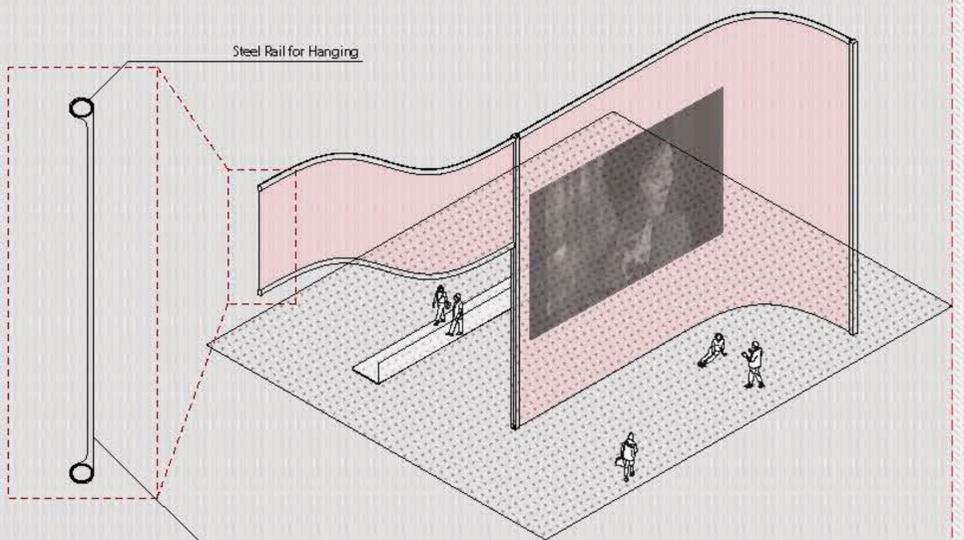

Considering the post-pandemic conditions, we also want to create a new type of movie viewing experiences -- the movie pods. This enable viewers to both being with strangers in a larger space sharing the large screen yet being isolated in a safer place.

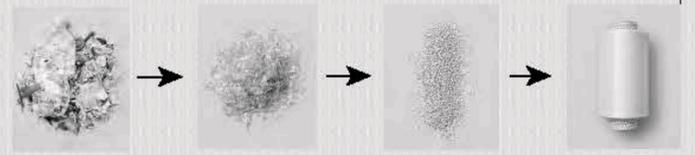

Individual Sound System For Each Pod

Steel Pail for Hanging

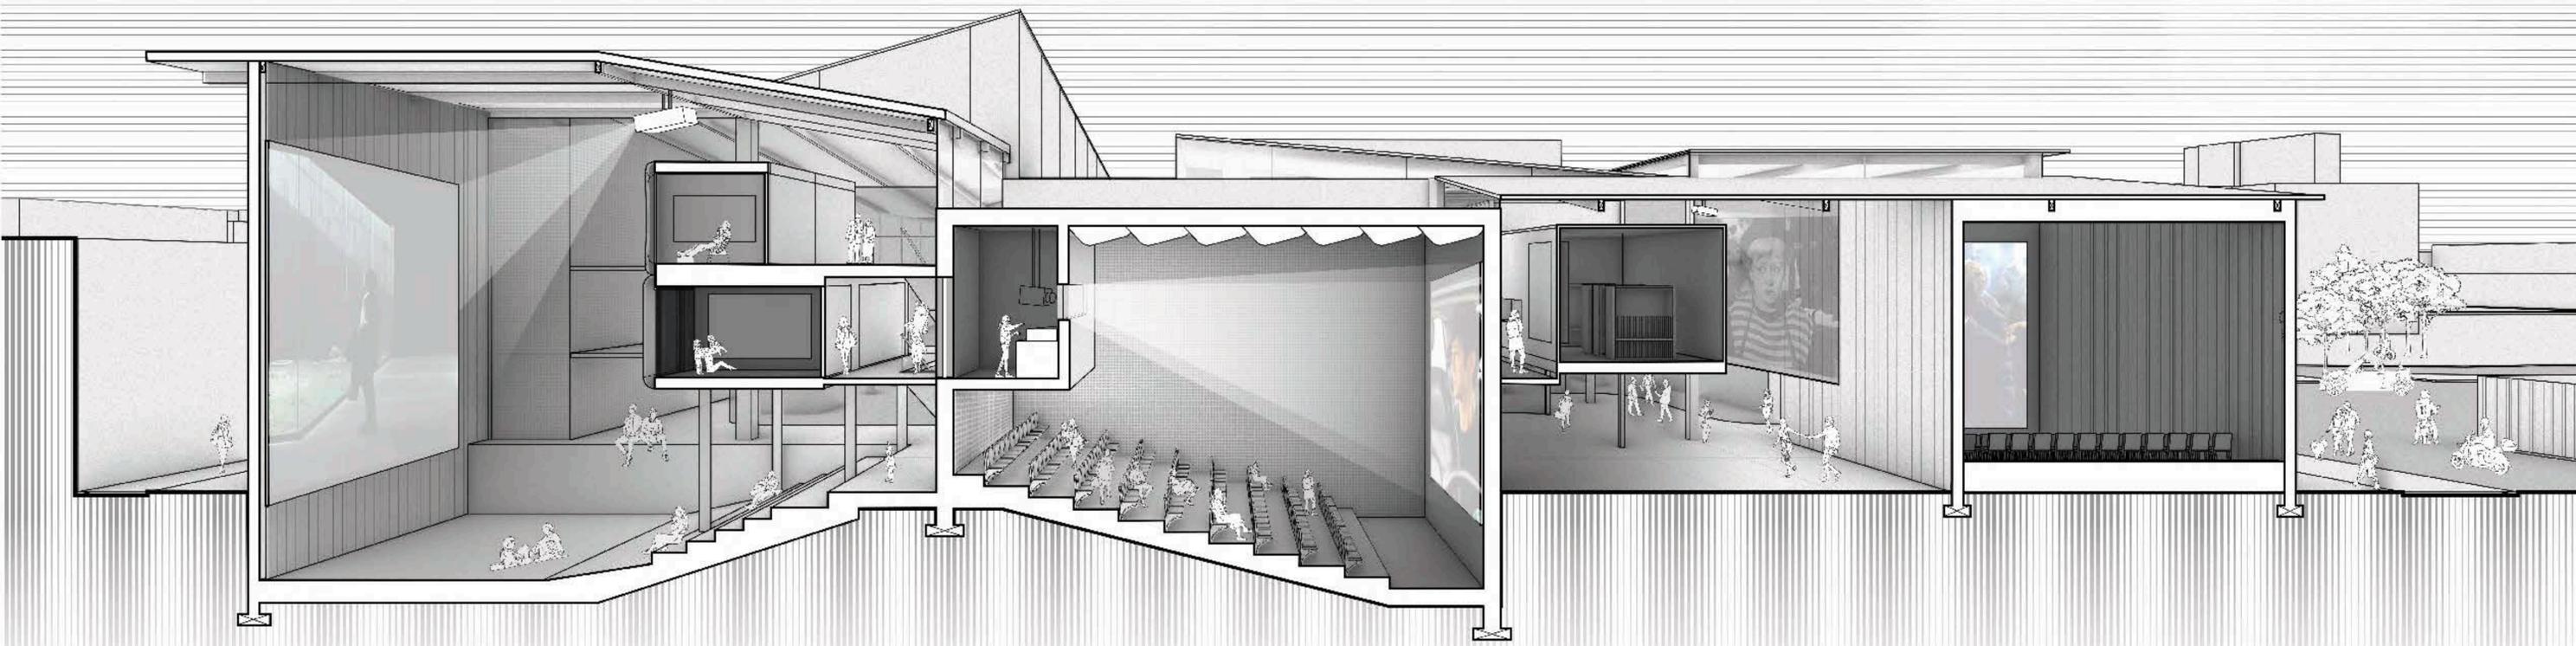

The continuous screens throughout is utilizing the Ocean Plastic® as the main material. The Screen can be projected with motion pictures with its self supporting structure.

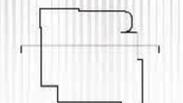

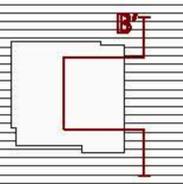

This facility utilizes multiple programs around films, providing both film enthusiasts and active workers in the industry a platform to communicate and gather.

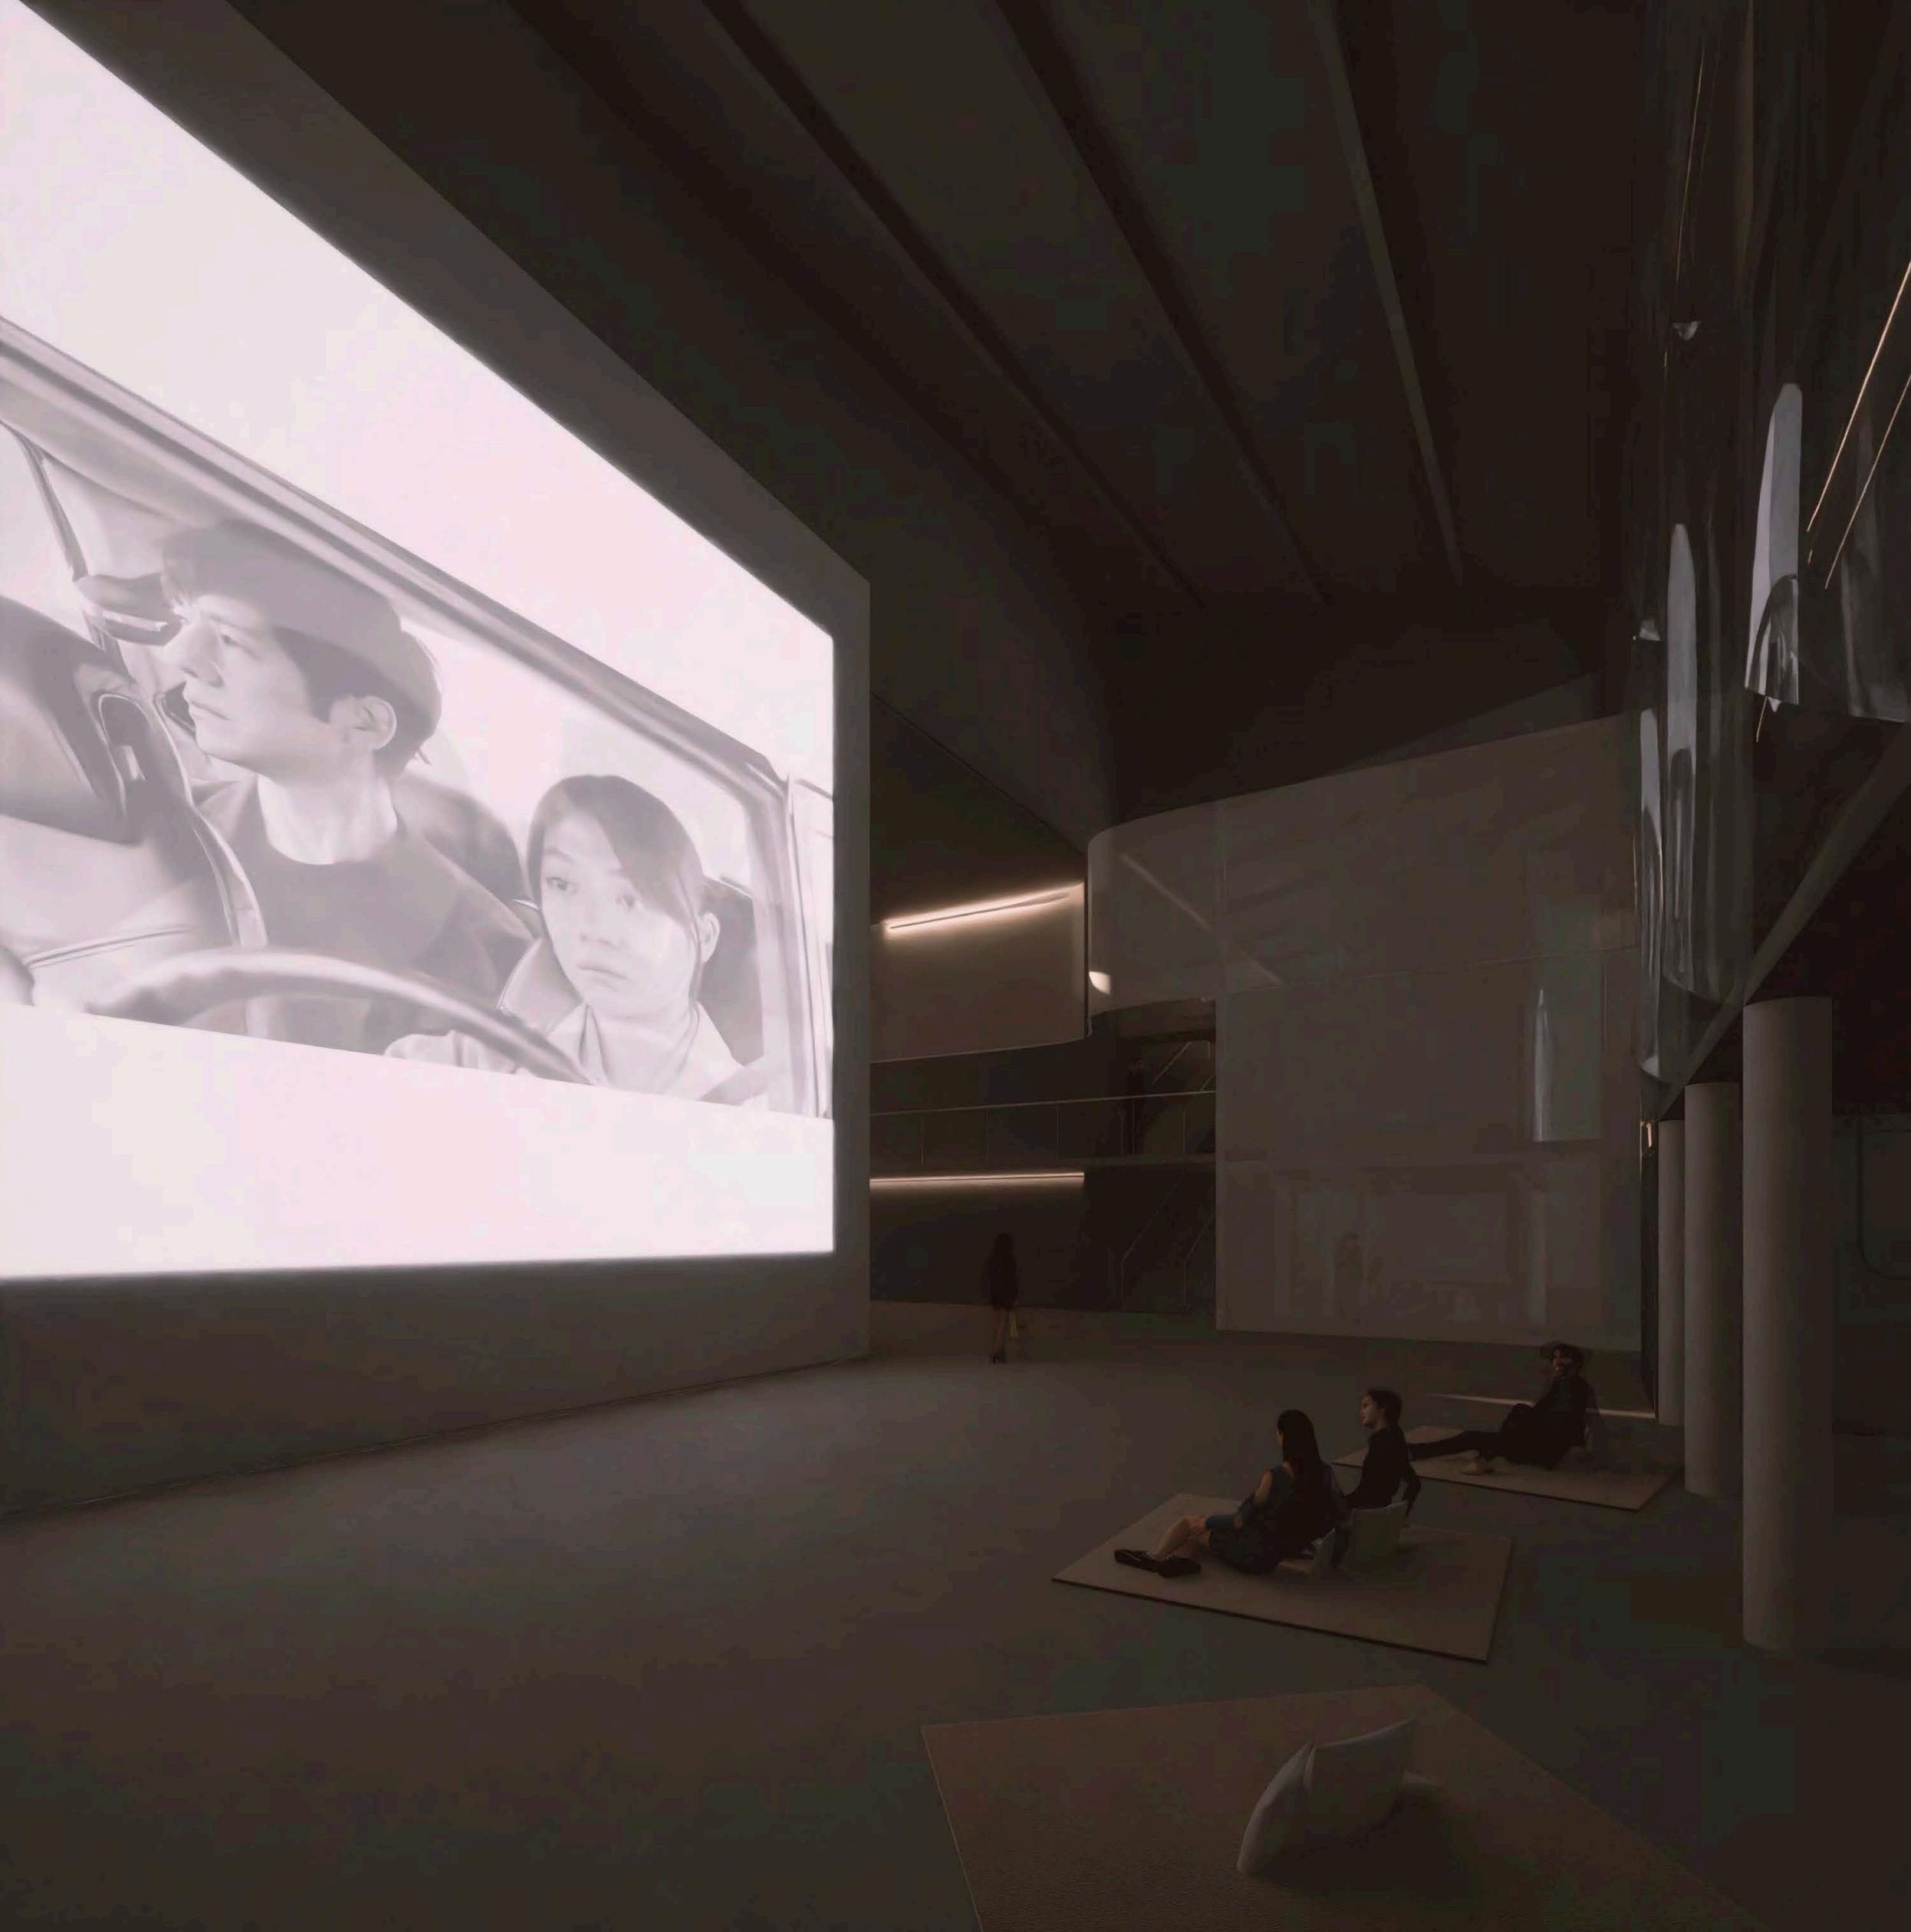

Different programs are connected by a metaphorical film strip -- a ribbon weaves through the site that also serves as a motion picture gallery to create a unique experience for visitors.

Film in Bushwick presents two programs for the featured film. One for the contemporary art focused film which includes new indie/art films, classic restoration in hi-res films, and other focused on the world classics series, working in conjunction with our vintage film archive program, which also includes digital conversion and restoration of vintage films.
