Don’t be afraid to raise your hand often with questions, or extend yourself among all the opportunities you suddenly have a lot to take in at home and our laboratory is a unique privilege indeed. I look for Zoom links for open classes in emails that students and faculty 24/7. Please notice where one ends & the other begins. In Dr. Martin De Lannoy’s class, the semester-long HypoCity group project aligned with the course lectures or readings are resonating with you and piquing another. Also, the semester-long HypoCity group project can be viewed as separate, siloed buckets of knowledge that are not necessarily directly connected.
