

Donna Miller

Donna Miller has over twenty years experience in the field of organizational design. She specializes in change management and strategic planning with an emphasis on the leadership mindsets, skills, and knowledge necessary to those processes.

Donna founded dmtd consulting, Inc. in 2003 to provide innovative organizational development services to teams ready to truly transform their enterprise. As a consultant she has partnered with a wide variety of corporate and not-for-profit organizations including BDO, DLA Piper, J.Crew, Jockey, MSK, Novo Nordisk, the New York Medical Association.

Prior to consulting, Donna led learning and development at Banana Republic and worked in Gap, Inc.'s HR Development. She holds a B.A. from Ithaca College and a J.D. from Pace University School of Law where she focused on environmental law.

As a community volunteer Donna has held various leadership positions within the Junior League of Summit, The Summit Area YMCA, Shaping Summit Together and the Summit Public Schools, where she is currently a member of the Board of Education. She lives in Summit, New Jersey with her husband, three children, a large dog and an alarming number of books.